'I Contributed' Realtor campaign launched

The Realtor Foundation recently launched an "I Contributed" campaign as part of its Building a Living Legacy project. That effort is providing funds to renovate or build 32 residences for homeless families as part of the mortgage companies and title companies who contribute at least $100 can display an "I Contributed" icon on their email signatures and marketing materials.

The campaign, announced in late February, has generated interest from nearly 100 members, moving the Legacy project closer to its $500,000 goal.

The Realtor Foundation — the philanthropic arm of the Metropolitan Indianapolis Board of Realtors — needs an additional $125,000 to make its goal by 2012, in time for MIBOR's 100th anniversary and the 2012 Super Bowl.
